

Scrivener Publishing

PRESS RELEASE

Two Collections Editors Appointed

June 2009

Scrivener Publishing is pleased to announce the appointment of two Collection Editors, both of whom are veterans in their fields.

Dr. James Speight will take charge of the Oil and Gas Collection. In our bid to cover the rich spectrum of energy topics, Scrivener Publishing will publish in every major area of interest including oil and gas, still a very important area for our world today and for decades to come. We are delighted to have Dr. Speight give some of his time to this Collection and its authors.

Dr. Norm Lieberman will head up the Process Engineering Collection. Norm has 35 years of being a process engineer under his belt and the list and the authors will greatly benefit from this rich experience. Process Engineering is a core subject for any technical publisher so we are grateful that he will spend time building an important pillar.

Please review both biographies on the “About tab” on www.scrivenerpublishing.com
