Emergency Response Management of Offshore Oil Spills wins Lantern Award

Emergency Response Management of Offshore Oil Spills, by Nicholas P. Cheremisinoff, PhD, and Anton Davletshin, published in 2010 by Scrivener Publishing with our partner, Wiley, under the imprint, Wiley-Scrivener, won a Lantern Award of Excellence in the category of “Corporate or Product Identity,” in the sub-category, “Packaging Design,” in Houston earlier this month.

Emergency Response Management of Offshore Oil Spills is the first technical book written that researches the British Petroleum oil spill in the summer of 2010, but it is also the most comprehensive guide ever published on the management of offshore oil spills.
